Annual Cal/OSHA Updates
In this very informative session participants will learn about the 2018 regulatory updates, most cited programs, and what we can expect in 2019. This session will help you better understand your role in responding with due diligence compliance to the codes. Attendees will hear about both the role and importance of Supervisors in maintaining the Health and Safety of employees. This training will integrate Supervisory responsibilities with respect to some very specific codes.

10:00am – 10:15am  Break

10:15am – 11:45am  Christopher Curtis | Sr. Deputy District Attorney, LA County District Attorney's Office

About the Speaker....
Mr. Curtis is currently assigned to the DA Office’s Environmental Crimes Division, where he helps investigate and prosecute felonies, misdemeanors, and civil law enforcement actions against corporations and individuals. He is responsible for prosecuting OSHA death cases and Labor Code violations, and has won high-profile convictions against multi-billion dollar corporations as well as individuals, including safety managers and construction forepersons. He was co-lead counsel on the District Attorney's prosecution of Bumble Bee Foods, a case where the corporation, the company's previous safety manager and the general manager were all charged with felonies related to a worker's workplace death in Santa Fe Springs in 2012. The case resulted in a $6 million dollar fine, penalty, and restitution judgment against the corporation as well as convictions on the individuals, which represented the first of a safety manager in California history. During his twelve years with the District Attorney's Office, Chris has prosecuted over 50 jury trials all around the county, and secured a $25 million dollar civil judgment in San Francisco Superior Court against Uber for false advertising related to the company’s criminal background checks on its drivers. Prior to joining the District Attorney's Office, Chris worked in private practice working in complex business litigation. He graduated with a B.A. degree in Public Policy Studies from Duke University and received his law degree from Georgetown University Law School, where he was also selected to study European Union law at the University College of London. He served as a law clerk and intern for DreamWorks SKG, a large New York international law firm, and the National Association of Securities Dealers (NASD). He is a Los Angeles native.

Potential Criminal Charges and Penalties that may arise out of a Workplace Death or Injury
The presentation will give an overview of Potential Criminal Charges and Penalties that may arise out of a Workplace Death or Injury. It will cover elements of two potential felony charges that can be filed: (1) Labor Code Section 6425, Willful Violations of Safety Standards that result in death, as well as (2) Penal Code Section 192(a), Involuntary Manslaughter. Some of the questions and issues that will be addressed in the presentation will be “Can independent supervisors, managers, or officers be charged with a crime?” and “How to Establish an Independent Employee Act Defense?”. The presentation will also delve into many of the elements that are analyzed in determining when supervisors, managers, safety officials, and employers will actually be charged with a crime. There will also be a case study integrated into the presentation itself.
