About the Speaker…

When people experience a water, fire, mold, or any other type of property damage, it is not uncommon for their day to completely unravel. Jeff’s great passion is bringing a piece of mind to people who have been through a real estate disaster. He helps his clients, who include managers, engineers, owners, and maintenance teams find healthy solutions to remediate their property back to pre-loss condition. He understands that no single approach is the right one for every situation. With over 30 years of experience, he understands that flexibility and understanding to work with each client based on their own particular needs are key to a successful project.

In addition to being a Senior Account Manager for HARBRO, He also teaches a variety of training classes. Including: Water Damage 101, Mold Awareness, Disaster Preparedness, Earthquake Preparedness, Fire & Smoke, Environmental Hazards, Bio-Hazard, and The Day After.

The presentation will focus on team building, setting up team roles, organizational challenges, screening your vendors ahead of time, understanding the types of potential disasters, safety tips, and many other strategies to better prepare you for a disaster. You will also learn, how to prepare, educate, and communicate effectively with your staff, owners, and tenants by implementing a Business Continuity Plan to help minimize secondary damages to your property from earthquakes and help limit your financial impact.
